Royal Family Safe in Palace Shelters

KING AND QUEEN VIEW DAMAGE AT PALACE—Standing on the side of a 15-foot crater, Their Majesties survey the wreckage caused at Buckingham Palace in the first bombing, when a 250-pound delayed-action missile exploded last Tuesday. The point of the blast is indicated in the picture. A swimming pool in the north wing was destroyed.

The two bombs falling in the quadrangle dug out large craters. A water main burst and water geysered up.

In contrast to today's bombing, which found the King and Queen at home, the bomb explosion last Tuesday came while they were traveling, and was in a way

Draft Men Can Go To Own Doctors

OTTAWA (CP)—The first proclamation to draft men for military training will treat all who are subject to call as being at the age they had reached July 1 last. Subsequent proclamations will deal with the question of those who have entered the 21-year-class or advanced beyond it since the registration. Regulations have been published in a special edition of the Canada Gazette.

Men called for examination will be given three days from receipt of their notice to present themselves to the physician of their choice. Only in the most isolated districts will this place the potential recruits under any expense or great inconvenience.

FARM WORK CONTINUES

It is not the intention to call out men engaged in farm work for the first training period, and in other ways the department will endeavor to so arrange the calls that essential industrial undertakings will not be unduly interrupted, so long as such workers get in their period of training within 12 months.

Plans for carrying out the physical examinations were completed at conferences between the departmental officials and officers of the Canadian Medical Association.

The fee for each examination, to be paid monthly by the government, is $1.

Any man found to be physically under category C1 as defined in the instructions, will be rejected for training at present. This category covers men who are "free from serious organic disease, who are able to stand home service conditions, and able to walk five miles."

FEW X-RAY TESTS

There will be no X-ray examinations of the chest such as are provided for those enlisting in the Canadian Active Service Force, except possibly in the cases of those, first rejected, who are called for re-examination by medical boards which will operate throughout each administrative division.

When a man is finally rejected for training he will be given a certificate, serially numbered and issued by headquarters of the National War Services Department.

Those who are passed as fit will be sent along with transportation, instructing them where and when to report for the 30-day training period.

500 ISOLATED AT SHILO CAMP

SHILO CAMP, Man. (CP)—More than 500 artillerymen in training here were confined to barracks today following discovery several of the men had measles. The sick men were in isolation in the camp hospital while two huts on the outskirts of the camp were being prepared for isolation wards if further cases develop.

Meanwhile, the men exposed to the disease were held under guard in their huts. Shilo camp is 120 miles west of Winnipeg.

Indies Expected To Join De Gaulle

MONTREAL (CP)—French colonies that have not already declared for General de Gaulle and his "Free Frenchmen" will do so "if they see that Britain can withstand Hitler's invasion efforts," Hon. J. H. Harrett, K.C., chief justice of the Leeward and Windward Islands in the British West Indies, told reporters here.

Mr. Jarrett spoke with particular reference to the French West Indies islands of Guadeloupe and Martinique.

"My information is that the civil French population of both islands is strongly for continuing the fight," he said. "The French officials who are in charge are, however, continuing to take orders from the Vichy government."

Canada Takes Photos Of Nazi Prisoners

OTTAWA (CP)—German prisoners brought to Canada for the duration of the war from Great Britain are being photographed. It has been learned from an official of the internment operations. He said the photographs were being taken for purposes of identification.

Recently Defence Minister J. L. Ralston ordered an investigation into escapes of six German prisoners from Ontario internment camps.

U.S. Navy Plans 2-ocean Fleet

HOW U. S. WILL BUILD SUPER-NAVY

BUILT	BUILDING	TOTAL

6	12	18
37	48	85
197	171	368
103	82	185

Here is how the present U.S. navy ("built" column) compares with the huge two-ocean fleet now contracted for ("total" column). Seven battleships and 194 other vessels are included in the "building" column for which contracts were signed September 9. Completion by December, 1944, of the expansion program will give the U.S. a fleet of 688 war vessels.

'Unconquered and Unafraid'

Londoners Confident, Defiant, Unbroken

LONDON (CP)—I returned to London today after three weeks in the country and found this beleaguered metropolis wounded and scarred but unconquered and unafraid.

I found houses demolished, buildings wrecked and gutted, and streets blocked, but that was only the bricks and mortar of this ancient city which the Romans laid out along the Thames. The real London, the London of flesh and blood, of valiant men and courageous women, was still defiant and still unbroken, despite all the fury of Hitler's air force.

The tough fibre of these people must be seen to be believed. With wreckage all around them, thousands of them homeless, and with the German army massed across the Channel awaiting the word of the high command to invade their country, they spend the gravest hour of their history—perhaps in the history of the world—in boasting about the power, intensity and ferocity of London's air barrage.

Acc-Acks' Success Praised By All

I had not been in London five minutes before a taxi driver was telling me all about it—how powerful the guns were, and how successful they were in dispersing the sky raiders by sustained fire.

The guns have brought confidence to Londoners. The people are now convinced their city is not just an area where German bombs may be dropped, but one section of the world's surface where bombers are held and turned back by a vast, crackling furnace of destruction.

For the last two nights German bombers have encountered the heaviest barrage in world history when they flew over London, and Londoners, settling down to air-raid shelters, had a smile of satisfaction on their faces, sure that while a few more bricks and mortar might be dislodged, London would never be conquered from the air.

Faith in Cause Still Firmly Held

The people of London have suffered in the past two weeks. You can see that from their drawn, tired faces. Their nerves are worn, but their spirits are still unconquered. Faith in their cause is undimmed and confidence in their power and strength is unshaken. They see their city shaken, but not their history.

The fence of exploding steel in the sky that has ringed London the last two nights is based on new methods of prediction. It is a new weapon in the war and has had devastating effect on formations of bombers. Its object is to scatter the bombers and force them to attempt to break through singly.

It was estimated today by a gunfire expert that at least half the crews of German bombers that flew over London the last two nights were wounded by blast splinters and that half the raiders were damaged.

"Very few Boche planes got back to their bases without some parts of them being shot away and damaged," this expert declared.

One of the secrets of the new barrage is how the gunners can fire accurately at planes 20,000 feet high without searchlights. The new predictor has a super-sensitive ear that picks up the sound of the raider miles away.

The apparatus, rather like an adding machine, then produces automatically a complete series of altitudes and locations which an enemy plane must traverse if it keeps its course. Those areas are then shelled, enclosing the plane in a curtain of fire and forcing it either to turn back or risk destruction.

INFRA-RED DEVICE TO FOIL RAIDERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reports of London's intensified and increasingly effective anti-aircraft barrage caused conjecture in Congressional circles today as to whether Britain had developed an infra-red ray plane detector like that possessed by the United States army.

Experiments with the apparatus in the United States were so successful army officials said it would lead to ultimate abandonment of the sound detection method for locating enemy aircraft.

The new device, synchronized with anti-aircraft batteries, was described as designed to locate approaching aircraft by the infra-red rays in their engine exhaust, and thus is effective at night or in foggy weather.

One congressman said tests at Fort Bragg, N.C., demonstrated the equipment could "spot" approaching planes accurately at a distance of 14 miles.

Little Food Price Increase in U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—Feeding the United States family takes a bit more cash now than it did just before the war began a year ago, commodity market statistics indicated today, but there has been no hint of wartime skyrocketing of food prices.

Food costs prior to last September's sharp upturn, resulting from a speculative and hoarding rush to buy commodities, were the lowest in five years. Now the average is approximately 3 per cent higher, but still 2 per cent below the peak reached two weeks after the war began.

Statisticians base their figures on wholesale rather than retail markets, regarding the former as better barometers of food costs in general because retail prices usually reflect varying conditions in different localities. They attribute much of the price bulge since the first of the year to domestic conditions such as the expanding defence program and increased industrial activity, which is putting more funds into consumers' pockets.

Among items whose current wholesale price is below that of August 31, 1939, are rye, potatoes, lamb, pork loins, lard, sugar and coffee. Items now priced higher include wheat, corn, oats, eggs, butter, cattle, hogs, beef and flour.

Funds From Australia

MELBOURNE (AP)—Enthusiastic public support of the Lord Mayor of Melbourne's fund for the relief of London air raid victims already has brought $289,800 towards an objective of $900,000 for the State of Victoria. The Lord Mayor of Sydney is opening a similar fund.

The Australian Red Cross is sending the British Red Cross $90,000 for relief purposes.

Lady Paish 'Burns Up'

SEATTLE (CP)—Lady Anita Carolyn Paish, American-born wife of Sir George Paish, British economist, says she is "burned up" by recent criticism of her husband in the United States Senate.

(Senator Burton K. Wheeler provoked the Senate discussion by disclosing remarks he said Sir George had made to him regarding possible United States participation in the war.)

"Is he (Senator Wheeler) so brilliant that he is going to decide what we should listen to?" Lady Paish demanded in an interview here. "I'm an American and it burns me up."

Lady Paish is visiting here after a brief vacation in British Columbia. She will leave shortly for California.

6 French Warships Now in Atlantic

GIBRALTAR (CP)—British naval authorities announced three French cruisers and three destroyers had passed Gibraltar Wednesday westbound into the Atlantic, but did not disclose destination of the vessels.

The destroyers were listed as the L'Audacieux, Le Malin and Le Fantasque, and the cruisers as the Gloire, Montcalm and Georges Leygues.

(Dispatches Wednesday from Ceuta, Morocco, directly across from Gibraltar, said three destroyers and three cruisers flying the French flag had passed westward through the straits that day unmolested by British batteries. The report could not then be confirmed.)

(This gave rise to speculation that French naval units which have been tied up at the Toulon naval base since the French-German armistice might have fled to join the British fleet.)

RAID HIGHLIGHTS

LONDON (CP)—In an air raid shelter under one of London's biggest apartment houses about 3 a.m. were 42 persons sleeping on mattresses. Nearby Aac Ack batteries were making a terrific roar.

Faintly, a "sort of throttled buzz" came from one corner. It was only an elderly gentleman snoring.

As the snores grew louder a woman sat up on her mattress, poked her sleeping husband and said: "Harry, make him stop snoring; I can't get a wink of sleep."

Ann Keefe, teletype operator, got home to Wimbledon early and prepared for a good night's rest in a shelter.

Bombs fell nearby and the landlady passed out. Ann revived her.

An air raid warden knocked on their dugout and told them a delayed action bomb had dropped in the garden and for everybody to get out. Landlady passed out. Ann revived landlady.

The two women got out of dugout and saw a side of the house was missing. Landlady passed out. Ann revived landlady.

Contributions to Nazis

NEW YORK (AP)—The Kyffhaeuser Kriegerhilfebund, composed of veterans of the German Imperial Army in the United States, has sent $32,000 to Germany since last December 5 to buy civilian comforts for German soldiers, according to Emil Brueckner, vice-commander of the organization. He said the Bund had received permission from the United States state department last week to send clothing and food to German prisoners in Canada.

Our Highways

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S ROADS ARE GETTING a good deal of free publicity these days. But it is not the type of publicity which produces dividends in the form of renewed tourist travel. And it carries uncomfortable implications. Members of the Vancouver Tourist Association have just discussed a communication from the manager of the Saskatchewan Auto Club, who says that from the consensus of reports received from Prairie motorists who had driven through this province he "despaired of developing much tourist traffic over the western section of the trans-Canada route." To this complaint, of course, will probably be added others from travelers from the United States who have come to British Columbia to get 10 days' holiday for the cost of 9—an attractive point in exchange discrepancy emphasized in the literature circulated in the neighboring republic by the government's own travel bureau.

But not all our varied attractions, coupled with the monetary premium which the United States dollar enjoys, will compensate travelers from across the border for discomfort encountered on our highways, not to mention the effect road conditions necessarily must have on the mechanism and tires of expensive automobiles. We can almost hear the government asking where the money is to come from. The point is well taken. But the owner of a vacant house usually paints and decorates it to induce a potential tenant to rent it. It is poor business for the government to spend money on advertising automobile travel in British Columbia, therefore, unless it is prepared for sufficient and regular capital outlays to maintain decent road surfaces.

This is not a political or party matter; it is of paramount importance to the economy of the province and, as such, it should merit serious consideration. To a greater extent than ever before, Canadians now are finding it necessary to confine their travel very largely to their own country. Nor does the government have to be told that the roads of the province need considerable attention. But the taxpayers have the right to know what is to be done about them. The next session of the Legislature should present the opportunity for a full-dress debate on this important subject. Let the people know what it will cost them to put our roads in a position to attract the business which will pay for their improvement and adequate upkeep. It is their business; the government is their servant.

'In the National Interest'

TO PROVIDE SAFEGUARDS AGAINST undue enhancement of rentals and shortage of housing accommodation—particularly in areas where there has been an influx of military or industrial population—the authority of the War Time Prices and Trade Board, under the chairmanship of Mr. Hector B. McKinnon, has been widened "in the national interest." Hon. Norman McLarty, Minister of Labor, who announced the decision at Ottawa yesterday, promises that such action as may be advisable or necessary will be promptly taken.

It will be recalled that when the War Time Prices and Trade Board came into being it was vested with power only to regulate prices and to insure the adequate supply and equitable distribution of such necessities of life as food, fuel and clothing. Complaints have been brought to the attention of the government at Ottawa, however, that rents in not a few instances have been increased to an unjustifiable extent, while inability to obtain houses or apartments in localities identified with war work is becoming an acute problem—made more irksome by what in several instances is described as something akin to rent profiteering. Eastern and western Canadian ports, and other points where military or industrial expansion has occurred, already have been named as suitable areas for investigation of rentals. And Mr. McLarty intimates that the War Time Prices and Trade Board will announce in the near future those localities where control will first be applied and what form such control will take.

As already pointed out in these columns, substantial movement in the real estate market has resulted in the acquisition of considerable property by newcomers to the various communities offering prospects of good returns on residential property. Nowhere in Canada, of course, is there the least disposition to discourage such investments. On the contrary, the greater the individual's stake in the country, the sounder becomes its economic stability. But the average wage earner already is heavily taxed by a government urgently needing all the money it can collect. If, therefore, he is to be penalized further to an unwarranted extent by investors who succumb to the allure of the pecuniary possibilities of abnormal or spurious prosperity—usually associated with essential, but wholly nonproductive, expenditures—it follows that administrative control becomes necessary, as Mr. McLarty says, "in the national interest."

A Los Angeles court subpoenaed a ghost. A ghost taking, instead of giving, a rap would be something new.

Silly Man

WHAT A FOOL THIS MAN HITLER IS! What does he suppose would happen to Britain even if one of his bombs were to smash Buckingham Palace to atoms? Such wanton destruction would merely make the British people still more determined—if that were possible—to put up with anything rather than stop short of the peace that this time will be dictated in Berlin.

This fool of a man does not seem able to learn anything from the progress of events since Britain and her family suddenly found themselves alone in the fight for liberty and decency. It was scarcely to be expected, of course, that he would permit history to teach him anything. He really believes he has created a new world—a world whose mechanism only he can start and stop. But because the British people refuse to recognize his conception of what he would have them regard as a new order, he sends his bombers to use Buckingham Palace, not to mention other "military objectives," as a target for death-dealing missiles.

He is a fool on other counts; he gives the show away by these tactics. For it is patent to all the world that he realizes he is up against the fictional "tenth man" in real life. And he does not quite know what to do about it. This is not a war of bricks and mortar. London may be pulverized from the air; but until Hitler has grounded the Royal Air Force and turned British resolution into fright, his main job will continue to baffle him. In other words, as the cockney would put it, "he's for it."

No More Appeasement

EVIDENCE ACCUMULATES FROM DAY to day that Adolf Hitler will never understand the British people or British psychology. We detect fresh argument in support of this contention in what purports to be an official Nazi statement, presumably to encourage the German people, that the climax of the campaign against Great Britain either has been reached or will be reached in a very short time. The part of the inspired ditty, however, which fairly well reflects the warped mentality of the man who promised 90,000,000 Germans he would make a triumphal entry into London on August 15, reads as follows:

"When our Air Force brings things in England to a point where great masses of people realize that resistance can not possibly be further maintained, it would not surprise us if the present government is forced to resign in favor of a body of men willing to come to terms."

There we have a perfect example of the Bourbon mind indulging in wishful thinking with capital letters. If Hitler really thinks that the Churchill cabinet, or any other cabinet, for that matter, would be allowed even an inch of appeasement rope he is paying no compliment to millions of his own people who still are able to think if they are not permitted to speak.

True, competent and dispassionate newspaper commentators and public men, in the United States as well as in Great Britain, continue to echo the idea to which Mr. H. G. Wells in his famous open letter some time ago gave emphatic voice—namely, that Mr. Chamberlain, Viscount Halifax, Sir Samuel Hoare, Viscount Caldecote, Lord Simon, Sir Kingsley Wood and others might do much worse than discreetly retire from office, or from positions where their daily presence may, on occasion, embarrass Mr. Churchill and those of his ministers who bitterly denounced Munich and its antecedents. None of this argument, however, can be seriously linked with the wishful thinking originating in Berlin.

In Europe overland distances which once represented years of struggle by ground troops are now only a few miles as the vulture flies.

A German picture has the Fuehrer stopping his car to attend personally to a dejected French horse. With a hard winter ahead, Hitler is not one to overlook a good bet.

Hitler and the headaches of his new Europe bring to mind the widow who was having so much trouble with the estate she almost wished her husband hadn't died.

Music in Trafalgar Square

From Manchester Guardian

German broadcasters tell the world that we no longer dare to gather in crowds for fear of their bombers. Nobody seemed to be worried in Trafalgar Square today (August 9) when the first of the weekly lunchtime concerts of military music arranged by the London County Council was given. Thousands of people scrambled for seats in the parapets of the square and cheered when the band of the Grenadier Guards arrived and marched round the square before taking up its position at the foot of the Nelson Column.

For two hours, from noon till 2, the band gave pleasure to Londoners who gathered there after their lunch or ate their sandwiches in the square. It was obvious that the place was particularly well chosen. Not only is it the centre of London's traffic, but there is a big canteen for war workers in the National Gallery, the social centres of the Australian and New Zealand soldiers are not far away, and South Africa House and Canada House face on to Trafalgar Square itself. One noticed many Empire uniforms in the crowd that listened to the music.

Whoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the Kingdom of heaven.—Matthew 18:4.

Man, a dunce uncouth, errs in age and youth: babies know the truth.—Swinnburne.

Bruce Hutchison

(Now on a tour of British Columbia, Mr. Hutchison will report on what he finds in the interior of the province and how the people generally are meeting conditions which the war has changed considerably. He writes from the Cariboo.)

BROCKLE-FACE

A YOUNG INDIAN was charged before the County Court of Cariboo this week with the theft of a "red, brockle-faced cow." He was a good boy, the witnesses said, but a woman had tempted him. She wanted an automobile and the lad, to win her favor, had stolen and sold the red, brockle-faced cow for $45. Before he could buy the car, the police arrested him and now, without car or lady, he is in Oakalla Jail, and will remain there for six months.

When the old frontier crime of cattle rustling is committed for the purpose of buying an automobile, a stranger would say that Cariboo is changing. The stranger would be wrong. Cariboo does not change. Its outward appearance along the main road may change, new hotels may be built to replace the old mile houses where, even in my time the women often ate in the kitchen and the men in the dining-room, but more than any place in America, Cariboo remains immune to the evils of civilization.

This must be, indeed, the most stable society in the New World, and you can feel the stability of it, the sanity of it, and the ageless freedom of it from the moment you swing down into the Bonaparte Valley and head north.

Here there is no talk by the roadside or in the general store about the war, the world revolution, or the prospects of mankind. Talk only of beef prices, of crops, of game in the hills, of weather. The woodpeckers, says the old settler near The Hundred, are boring their holes on the north side of the pine trees this fall, so it's going to be a cold winter.

These are the enduring things of men's talk since the beginning of time and will go on long after this particular civilization has been buried. And you feel, among these people, that even in that event, Cariboo will go on much as ever.

DEEP ROOTS

THAT IS BECAUSE every man and every family is rooted into this soil, as no urban person can be attached to his city. Every ranch house on the roadside, every old stopping place, every barn and corral has its story, its record of lives lived here, of cattle raised and shipped, of old folks buried on the hillside nearby, of adventures in the stage-coach and freight-wagon days.

The old Murphy Ranch, the Boyd's, the Seventy Mile, the Cunninghams, The Hundred, Hat Creek, Maiden Creek, Pollard's—every one of them is a little saga of Cariboo life, and everybody knows the story of each. In that sense, in the sense of experience shared, of neighborliness and living together, Cariboo is old, ten times as old as any of our cities and, in essential things, perhaps ten times as wise.

Most British Columbians have never seen the way the Cariboo folks live. They may have seen the main road, but it is only a narrow ribbon lying between the immensity of this vast inland plateau. Half a mile off the main road and you are in the original wilderness.

OFF THE ROAD

DRIVE UP ONE of those twisting narrow roads and you will come across a ranch so far from any neighbor, so lonely and unknown that it might be 1,000 miles away. A log house, a corral, a big brown barn, a wild hay-meadow by a little lake, some scowling beef cattle lazing among the poplar trees, and the settler and his bravely sons coming home on a wagon from the haying—that is the Cariboo and it has been thus since the settlers came. A hard life, but secure. If you own your hay meadow, if you can get that most precious treasure of the drybelt, a stream of irrigation water, to make alfalfa grow.

They are taking in the third crop of alfalfa these days. "Wala-fafa, hip good now," old Toy Yick, the Chinaman, had told us down Ashcroft way. Alfalfa is good all along the road, and the irrigated fields of it lie in deep green squares at the bottom of the brown valleys, and close by yellowing grain in stook.

The climate changes as you go north and the road rises, so that crops are late around the Hundred and Fifty, but this doesn't matter. It is still summer in Cariboo now, with blazing hot days (over 90 in the shade as this is written) and cool, star-spangled nights. For weeks yet the Cariboo autumn will keep the daylight air filled with a curious golden light and a sharp, bracing quality that makes you feel 10 feet high as you walk through the hayfields.

NO LAND ANYWHERE, surely, can compare with Cariboo in this, the beginning of Indian summer—the broad valleys, yellowing with poplar leaves, the long, slanting blue shadows creeping down the rounded sage-brush hills, the sweet smell of alfalfa in the dusk, and pot-holes pungent, clean smell of sage, the fat yellow haystacks, the little lakes reflecting sky and hill and tree like glistening platters of rich pattern, and at night a round yellow moon that dances on the long lakes and spreads of dreamy softness across the land.

"All the good of which humanity is capable is comprised in obedience."—John Stuart Mill.

"We need only obey. There is guidance for each of us, and by lowly listening we shall hear the right word."—Emerson.

Elmore Philpott

WHAT IS "UNION NOW"?

ALTHOUGH MORE than half the newspapers of Canada have written, in the past 18 months, about the Union Now proposal, there are many people who are in doubt about exactly what is proposed.

I get letters from different parts of Canada which show that there are definite misconceptions about some of the details.

Union Now is the name of a book written by Clarence Streit, a New York newspaperman with long experience in Europe. This book was published in March, 1939. It argued that the time had come when the nations of the world had to lay the foundation of what would become a world government or else suffer recurrent and increasing disaster in the form of economic collapse and war.

Streit proposed that the United States constitution be taken as the model for a future democratic government, to come into being step by step. His specific suggestion was that the U.S.A., Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Elre, France, Finland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, The Netherlands, Belgium and Switzerland form themselves into one federation.

This federation would be governed by a parliamentary body with two houses, members of which would be elected directly by the people on a basis of relative population.

There would be no attempt to change any internal arrangement of any of the member nations unless such change was necessary by reason of the formation of the federation itself. We would keep our King, the French would keep their own President and Congress and the Scandinavian countries their own social system.

The jurisdiction of the Federal Union itself was to be limited, under Streit's original proposal to five fields: Citizenship, defence, trade, money and communications. The basic charter of the Union would include a bill of human rights which would be guaranteed by the Union itself.

IMMEDIATE PLAN

THE TIMELINESS of the book was proved by what has since occurred. Of the 15 nations named in the original proposal, eight have already been conquered or encircled by dictator countries. The appalling force of Streit's argument—that the democratic nations literally had to stand together or go down one by one—was thus driven home by bitter experience.

After the fall of France, Mr. Streit and his associates in the United States set forth an amended plan, different in some important respects from the original.

EMPIRE FREE TRADE

From Prince George Citizen

The exigencies of the war may bring to fruition in part the dreams of lovers of freedom and peace who advocate a Grand Union of democratic countries for defence, trade, currency and foreign affairs. While there may be many difficulties in the way of such a union of nations as was proposed by Clarence Streit in his famous book "Union Now," less difficulty should arise in forming a real union in the British Commonwealth. There already exists the closest co-operation in defence and external affairs, but there is an increasing need for closer relations aiming towards an actual free exchange—devoid of tariffs—of commodities and products of the Commonwealth. Only by trading products can war costs be paid.

Adjustments to employees of and investors in tariff-created industries would follow as a matter of fairness, but such costs would be borne by the Commonwealth as a whole, and would be infinitesimal compared to the great benefits ensuing from the wider living at lower costs; the impetus given to employment through increased consumption and production, and to increased transportation by sea, rail and air.

While the war demands all our resourcefulness now, yet it is advisable that consideration be given to these important proposals of a firmer and lasting economic union among the nations of the British Commonwealth.

INTRUDING ON A PEACEFUL EXISTENCE

From Indianapolis News

A Montana census enumerator reported to his supervisor that in the course of his duties he had to act as historian as well as "nose-counter." Far out in the hills he found a family unaware of the war in Europe, and spent the better part of an afternoon explaining the situation to them.

Orators had the villainous greed to insult Spain and its glorious Caudillo.—Spain's official reason for breaking relations with Chile.

UNDER THE NEW PLAN

Under the new plan, which is being advocated in full page advertisements, paid for by groups of citizens across the United States, the original Union will be limited to the United States and the six self-governing British nations. These nations, on the invitation of the President of the United States, would send official delegates to a so-called Constitutional Convention to be held in Independence Hall, Philadelphia. They would devise ways and means to set up a Union government, having jurisdiction over defence, international trade and such other matters as the people concerned were "willing to delegate to the Union."

It is specifically stated in the proposed Declaration of Interdependence that this gathering would be "the first step toward a world government of, by and for the people, open not only to all other democracies—notably those now enslaved or imprisoned, when they are freed—but even to the peoples now attacking the free when they have overthrown their dictators and satisfactorily established their rights as free men."

CAPITAL IN CANADA

BELIEVE with all my heart and soul that such a British-American union will take place within the next few years. I should not be surprised if the capital of this union—the first capital of the whole future democratic world—should be located in Canada, either at Ottawa, Montreal or Quebec.

This is not just a wild guess on my part. I figure it this way: The people of the United States are intensely suspicious of European entanglements and will therefore insist that the seat of government be on this continent where they can keep their eye on it. The British Empire may be willing to meet them in this respect, but will certainly want some quid pro quo, such as having it located on British soil. As the French language will be the second language of the Union—and as the retention of language is specifically guaranteed to the minorities—I think a safe bet is that it will be in or near French Canada.

In my opinion, it doesn't make any difference whether the capital is in Canada, Washington, England, Jerusalem or Timbuctoo. What matters is results. Nor would I care whether the original Union had jurisdiction over anything more than one matter to begin with—that of defence.

The great task of our generation is to end recurrent wars, the obvious reason that if we do not wars will end all of us. The world is going to have world government. It is going to come either the Stalin way, the Hitler way, or in the way pointed by the modest, freckled-faced newspaperman from Montana.

STAND BEHIND THE MILITIA

From Vancouver News-Herald

In Hamilton, Ohio, the merchants and citizens decided that it wasn't fair to see men who serve in the National Guard lose the difference between army and civilian pay while attending annual camp. So they raised a community fund to make up the difference.

Technically, Hamilton, Ohio, is still a city in a country at peace, but they have come to appreciate what the militia means to the nation. Here we are at war and we will soon have our Non-Permanent Active Militia units going off to annual camp.

By law employers must give militia members leave for camps. It would be a generous gesture if those employers who are financially able to do so would go one step farther and continue the boys' pay while they are away.

The turn of events suggests that our Non-Permanent Active Militia may not be nonpermanent long. We cannot be sure how soon they may be joining those other patriots who are already mobilized in active service either here in Canada or be asked to volunteer for duty abroad. It is important for those who control civilian affairs to show the men of the militia that they appreciate their service and stand behind them.

GARNISHEE AND THE CIVIL SERVANT.

From Ottawa Citizen

The immunity of the civil servant to the garnishment of his salary against debt is a privilege which has been accorded him for many years. It is one that is on the whole well respected, but inevitably there will be those who will take advantage of the latitude in buying that it gives. Senator Meighen and Senator Hardy expressed themselves in favor of the abolition of the privilege and have brought a defence from the Liberal member for West Ottawa as to the integrity of so many of his constituents. In addition merchants of Ottawa have testified that they regard the civil servant by and large as dependable in dealing as any other section of the community.

The whole discussion in the Senate arises from a bill affecting Dominion civil servants in Manitoba who refuse to pay the provincial income tax. It seeks to attach their salaries in this case. The passing of this bill would certainly have wider repercussions. And thus the matter is being referred to the Minister of Finance for the government's consideration.

The origin of the privilege should be taken into account and more definite figures respecting its alleged abuse should be demanded before steps are taken. Creditors particularly in such a city as Ottawa have means at their disposal to secure the reduction of their debts and know how to take advantage of them. And since the Dominion civil service is made up of a body of honorable men and women, their professional associations may safely be left to take the whole matter up effectively in the best interests of all concerned.

IN BRITAIN'S HOUR OF TRIAL

From Toronto Star

Canada's heart goes out to the Motherland at this time. Canada has sent to Britain her munitions of war, her foods, her ships—has sent her own sons to aid the battle for light and liberty. She will send also her prayers. No matter how complete the victory may be, it can be won only through pain; pain such as merciless men and ruthless foes inflict on women and children and non-combatants of every description. The birth-pangs of a new world-liberty will be terrible, but in British hearts everywhere there is supreme confidence that the hour of Britain's trial will be the hour of Britain's triumph.

NO SACRIFICE HERE

From Financial Post

"Serve by saving." So the government, and quite properly, urges Canadians.

Everyone is adjured to make sacrifices in order to speed the war effort. Investors are asked to buy 3 per cent bonds or war savings certificates. Taxation is at the highest level in history.

But Ottawa continues to sell government annuities at bargain prices. Not only does the government pay the costs of administration of the annuity office; but it pays the equivalent of 4 per cent compound interest on the annuities that it sells.

Many, if not most, of these annuities are sold to well-to-do people who know a good thing when they see it.

This practice may encourage saving but it is saving at a great cost to the general public. And it is not sacrifice. It is a gift from a government hard pressed to pay for the war.

Oak Bay Case on Water

Says City in Position Of Commercial Concern

Ownership of the water utility for Greater Victoria should place the city in the position of a commercial enterprise and should permit it only those privileges a commercial enterprise should enjoy in respect to rate fixing, R. F. Blandy, Oak Bay municipal clerk, argued before the Provincial Public Utilities Commission yesterday as he gave the municipality's case for a low water rate.

His presentation took the form of an excerpt reading from a lengthy written brief, accompanied by voluminous references to United States findings in utility disputes.

Following a short reply by F. L. Shaw, city solicitor, the hearing adjourned for two weeks for further argument by contending parties on points raised by their opponents.

Mr. Blandy was thanked for the information he had presented to the board by its chairman, Dr. W. A. Carrothers. Also sitting were L. W. Patmore, K.C., and Major J. A. MacDonald.

Mr. Blandy opened his case with submission of certain documents to which Mr. Shaw took exception on the grounds Oak Bay sought to establish authorities without adequate citations.

The board chairman ruled such submissions were mainly for the board's assistance and would be carefully weighed.

Briefly Mr. Blandy sketched the increasing use by Oak Bay of water for which it paid $1.374 in 1910, $7.748 in 1925 and $19.457 in 1938. Those figures, he said, showed Oak Bay was paying more and more into the city treasury and disclosed the municipality to be an important customer worthy of consideration.

He traced the monopoly secured by the city on water through the acquisition in 1925 of the Esquimalt waterworks and remarked that city efforts then to set a 12.8 cent per 1,000 gallon rate had resulted in an arbitration board fixing the price at 7.8 cents. The city was again billing Oak Bay at 12 cents, he noted, adding Oak Bay consumption had doubled since 1925. Mr. Shaw replied the city set no definite figure, but left that to the board.

GENERAL SUBMISSION

Mr. Blandy stated generally only properties used and useful should be considered along with revenues in fixing rates. Excessive expenditure, he contended, should be excluded. Land not used should be deducted, as should land not fully developed from cost computations. Similarly auxiliary pumps not fully used should not be fully chargeable. He quoted U.S. findings to the effect that municipal utilities should be considered as private concerns and that water rates should be regarded as the price for a commodity sold. The consumers of a city-owned utility product should not be charged for capital investment on debt.

Reading a city letter of February 2, 1938, seeking to establish a rate of 12.08 cents per 1,000 gallons, he briefly traced the city's method of arriving at that rate. Contributing factors to the rate were maintenance costs, interest charges and sinking fund payments on debt.

Mr. Blandy attacked free water provided by the city for boulevard maintenance and noted water for sewer purposes was negligible. He then turned his attention to cheap industrial rates granted the Sidney Roofing and Paper Co. Ltd., the Producers Sand and Gravel Company, the Quarantine Station, the Empress Hotel and Crystal Garden before citing rates to them and to city consumers generally.

On Mr. Shaw's interruption, he admitted he was not including in the latter the service charges imposed by Victoria to its domestic consumers.

Oak Bay, Mr. Blandy stated, accepted the principle of paying on a basis of normal costs, adding there was no justice in permitting a monopoly to make a consumer pay more than a normal cost.

Dr. Carrothers asked what Oak Bay considered normal costs. In the case under consideration some elements were above normal, Mr. Blandy replied.

He held different uses to which the utility was put should not alter the price of the commodity. In that respect he attacked Victoria's cheap irrigation rates which increased the load factor in the summer months.

CHARGES DISCRIMINATION

Supply of free water to certain interests amounted to discrimination, Mr. Blandy declared. The service should not be sold for less than cost because it compelled other consumers to make up in their payments what was lost on free or below cost consumption.

He quoted public utility regulations to the effect that no utility should extend to anyone in particular concessions not granted to all. Mr. Blandy remarked the city was only 60 per cent, by population, of the whole community and that when special concessions were granted by Victoria, Oak Bay was not consulted as to whether or not such privileges were merited. Hence, he intimated, the city could not expect exclusion of free or cheap water from the gross gallonage on which the rate was based.

Asked by Dr. Carrothers if Oak Bay acknowledged any value from the concessions which Victoria argued were in the community interest, Mr. Blandy replied it did, broadly speaking. But, he added, similar benefits were secured by Victoria citizens from Oak Bay in the matter of parks.

"If there is a real service, then I should imagine the citizens of Oak Bay would be glad to pay. Would the service be a matter of degree?" asked Dr. Carrothers.

NO VALUE TO OAK BAY

H. G. Lawson, K.C., replied on behalf of Oak Bay.

He dealt first with the cheap rate to the Empress Hotel. That building had been put up by the C.P.R. on the reclaimed James Bay mud flats to benefit the city particularly. Similarly the Crystal Garden had been erected to assist the city. If merchants living in Oak Bay and conducting businesses in the city benefited, they paid for that benefit through taxes, he said.

City parks were of little value to Oak Bay which had its own playing fields, he said. Commercial concerns like the Sidney Roofing and Paper Company and Producers Sand and Gravel were of direct value to the city in the employment of city residence and in the purchase of supplies from city merchants, he said.

Golf courses similarly attracted business to city merchants. "Oak Bay needs water but has been shut off from securing its own source of supply by the 1910-1911 legislation," Mr. Lawson continued.

"It's most unreasonable for the city to take all that water and come to Oak Bay and say we are going to treat you as an ordinary customer," he concluded.

Mr. Blandy resumed the case, setting forth his accounting for a rate to 3.88 cents per 1,000 gallons which Oak Bay considered equitable.

To arrive at that, he said, required elimination of city charges for surplus land at Sooke and Goldstream, elimination of Smith's Hill reservoir costs, acknowledgment by the city of the return from the B.C. Electric for hydraulic use of water at Goldstream and other items.

He further contended Oak Bay's share of costs of the water service for fire protection should be far below that of the city with its industrial centres. Later he suggested a fair distribution of that cost would be in the ratio of one to Oak Bay, two to Saanich and five to Victoria and Esquimalt combined.

FAULTY STRUCTURE ALLEGED

The city, he continued, based part of its rate computation on a financial structure which had ceased to exist through application of the Civic Refunding Plan. Again he met objection from Mr. Shaw on figures he used in an effort to illustrate that point. Mr. Blandy said the city's figures on water works indebtedness were far above actuality.

He alleged error in the city's method of arriving at a rate, stating bond interest and financing charges were not applicable to cost figures.

Sinking fund and serial debenture instalments should not be reckoned in, on the total since, if Oak Bay paid towards them, the municipality would be helping to pay for items which would become definite city assets.

Mr. Blandy charged the city with confusion of thought in including in the costs of the commodity the costs of the plant.

"When you buy a pint of milk, you should not have to buy the cow," he declared.

Dr. Carrothers remarked the cost of the cow had to be met through the aggregate sales of pints of milk.

"Yes, through depreciation, but not capital expenditure," Mr. Blandy replied. The capital, he declared, should not be provided by the consumer.

He attacked in some detail the city's alleged evaluation of the Goldstream plant and again came into conflict with Mr. Shaw when the latter asked why Mr. Blandy had used one set of figures to illustrate one point in connection with the plant and another to assist him on another point.

He cited U.S. authorities to support him in the contention unused land on the Sooke and Goldstream watersheds should not be included in costs of a system and denied Mr. Shaw's claim Thetis Lake was a standby source of supply for the Victoria system. Excess payments had been listed by the city on the Goldstream system, he continued. He sought to have costs of a survey of the Leech River area isolated from a general watershed survey on the grounds Leech River had not been developed.

He drew attention to alleged duplication in mains supplying Oak Bay from Fountain Square, distributing centre, and declared Smith's Hill reservoir of no value to the Oak Bay system and therefore not to be included in a cost estimate.

SIDE GLANCES

"We should have tipped that new man off that this is the boss's day to take a crack at everybody in the place!"

ployment of city residence and in the purchase of supplies from city merchants, he said.

Golf courses similarly attracted business to city merchants.

"Oak Bay needs water but has been shut off from securing its own source of supply by the 1910-1911 legislation," Mr. Lawson continued.

He drew attention to alleged duplication in mains supplying Oak Bay from Fountain Square, distributing centre, and declared Smith's Hill reservoir of no value to the Oak Bay system and therefore not to be included in a cost estimate.

With regard to charges for siphon renewals, Mr. Blandy held Oak Bay already paid towards them in a depreciation account and should not have to pay again in a maintenance list.

Conflict arose over how Oak Bay reached its depreciation figures on the flow line. Mr. Blandy said from books and reports. The city claimed superior knowledge on the basis of practical experience of a competent engineer actually on the ground.

Oak Bay, Mr. Blandy continued, thought the leakage figures of the city, a factor detrimental to Oak Bay, too high.

In a brief reply Mr. Shaw stated that if Oak Bay received the rate it asked, it would make an annual profit of $30,000 a year, while Victoria's returns from the municipality would be halved. Some one would be injured, he noted.

In respect to discrimination, he declared none could exist in cases where procedure was governed by statute. Free water was not discriminatory when it was in the interests of the community.

Mr. Shaw scouted Mr. Lawson's contention Oak Bay received no benefits from the Empress Hotel and Crystal Garden; noting the municipality derived considerable revenue from tourists in the municipality's hotels. He also remarked residents of Oak Bay were business men of Victoria and benefited directly.

He again supported the need for unused land on watersheds as potential reserves and for health reasons and disagreed with Mr. Blandy's suggestion regarding alleged duplication of supply mains from the Fountain Square to the Oak Bay boundary.

Syria May Join Britain in Fight

CAIRO (AP)—Thirty resolute officers probably could swing the balance of sentiment in Syria in favor of continuing in the war on the side of Britain, the French National Committee in Egypt asserted today.

In the last month Syria has undergone a "tremendous change of sentiment" toward such a step, the committee, which opposed the French surrender to Germany, reported.

"Resentment against Italian efforts to disarm Syria is high," a committee spokesman said, "and an explosion may come at any time."

He said these reports reached the committee from persons of unquestioned reliability just arrived from Syria.

"A month ago Syria was apathetic about continuing the war," the spokesman said, "but the Italians were too hurried. The mission has been badly received by Syrians, Lebanese and French alike."

COLONEL PUNCHED

"One Italian colonel was punched in the nose in the street. A group of foreign legionnaires jumped on another member, according to reports we received."

The French committee members said, are convinced Italy did not defeat France and never could have. The committee itself regards the Italian mission's presence for disarmament of French Syrian forces as an attempt to win an easy victory.

An Italian occupation of Syria, the committee said, would be followed by a thrust at the Mosul oil fields just across the frontier in Iraq to cut off the main British oil supply in the Near East.

The drum language, by which signals are sent for miles in Africa, is difficult, says an ethnologist, and few white men understand it.

Reserve Decision On B.C.E.R. Appeal

The Court of Appeal yesterday reserved judgment in the appeal of the British Columbia Electric Company against a judgment for $4,610 given Frank Claridge of Burnaby by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald for injuries suffered at Fraser Arm Station last year.

Claridge, a former railwayman, who lost his left arm, claimed that the biceps of his remaining arm were torn when he had to grasp the handle of an interurban car when it started just as he was about to board it, and dragged him for about 20 feet.

Senator J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., for the railway company, submitted that Claridge was responsible for the accident as he attempted to board the train after it had started.

Claridge was represented by J. R. Nicholson. The court dismissed the application of C. L. McAlpine, K.C., for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada, the Court of Appeal ruling in favor of E. Lauder against C. Y. Robson. The case arose from a Vancouver automobile accident.

Rally Day Sunday At First United

The First United Church will hold a grand Sunday school rally in the church auditorium on Sunday afternoon at 3. These rally services in the past were considered highlights in the life of the school and they are being revived in response to requests of many parents and friends. A program has been prepared, the theme being "Serve the Lord With Gladness," the various features including choruses by the children, recitation of scriptures and music by a special choir from members of the senior girls' classes.

The promotion ceremony will be centered around a white fence and gates decorated by flowers, which will add to its impressiveness. Rev. Hugh McLeod will give a brief Rally Day message.

The music selections, in keeping with the theme, will be bright, the choir singing as an anthem "Hymn to Joy" (Beethoven) with Jean Campbell as soloist. Jack Smith will preside at the organ and as an organ prelude will render "Song of Sunshine" (Alfred Hollins) and "Gavotte in D" (J. Smith). The postlude will be "Festival Postlude" (J. ## Minesweepers Ask For Special Gloves

The Victoria depot of the Royal Naval War Comforts Committee is now filling its fourth large case for dispatch to the headquarters of the Missions to Seamen, London. The Missions to Seamen has for 100 years been attending to the wants of the crews of merchant ships and fishing vessels, hence this war work is simply an expansion of peace-time work.

The Admiralty committee have sent to the Victoria depot one of its official blue and white knitted badges showing the words "Knitted Garments for the Royal Navy," with the Admiralty anchor in silver on a blue background in the centre, the whole badge being 1½ inches in length.

MINESWEEPERS' GLOVE

The constant handling of wire ropes on minesweepers plays havoc with the unprotected hands of the crew. But the Missions to Seamen have concentrated specially on the making of the Mellor minesweepers' glove, which was designed by Miss M. L. Mellor during the war of 1914-18, and who is honorary secretary to the branch at Stretford, Manchester. While the string protects the hands from broken ends of wire, the cloth foundation enables the gloves to dry quickly. Great credit is due "Rocobella" working party, under Mrs. M. Pearce, for steadily producing a supply of these splendid gloves.

In a recent report from the Missions to Seamen is this additional request: "Will those making gloves for men in minesweepers, please make a point of stitching the twine glove firmly to the cloth along the ribs. This lengthens the life of the glove, makes the gloves less liable to catch on broken wires and makes it easier to withdraw the hand if the twine catches in a broken hawser which is slipping overboard."

One of the chaplains writes that many men remember the Mellor glove from the last war and ask for them again. They much prefer them to the leather ones. On Saturday each week the collection case at 1002 Government Street is cleared of parcels and each worker is requested to put her name on parcel so that the records of the depot can be accurately kept.

CENTENNIAL Y.P.S.

Mr. George Hearn spoke a few words of appreciation to the guest of honor and Mr. Frank Hamilton acted as master of ceremonies. Recitations were given by Mrs. Hawes, Mrs. Woodward and Mrs. Allen. Mrs. Simmers sang and Miss Cathie Fowler and Miss Dorothy Jealous played piano solos. Buffet refreshments were served during the evening.

Miss Elinor Aaronson, who is to be married this month to Mr. Harry Adams, was the guest of honor when members of the "Starlets" group met on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Moya Bailey, 1882 Hampshire Road. The living-room was decorated with chrysanthemums and the monthly business meeting was followed by bridge. The prizes were won by Miss E. King, first, and Miss B. Cruickshank, consolation. During the evening Miss King presented Miss Aaronson with a lovely English pottery jug on behalf of the members. Later, refreshments were served. Those present were: Mrs. E. Bickerton and Misses Edith King, Nancy Davies, Margaret Thomson, Bessie Cruickshank and Jean Bailey.

In compliment to Miss Nelly Dawes, whose marriage to Mr. Lloyd W. A. Ralph will take place tomorrow, Miss Joyce Dawes, cousin of the bride-elect, was hostess last evening at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of her mother, Mrs. A. T. Dawes, 248 Superior Street. The gifts were concealed in a basket decorated with red, white and blue and placed in front of the fireplace. On her arrival the guest of honor was presented with a bouquet of goldenrod and pink and orange gladioli, while her mother was given a corsage bouquet of pink and white stocks. The same color scheme was used on the supper table, where an airplane and a mock wedding cake were also used in decoration. The guests included Miss Nelly Dawes, Mrs. Philip Dawes, Mrs. A. T. Dawes, Mrs. Evelyn Lewis and the Misses Amanda Bensen, Ethel Stickney, Betty Davies, Norma Hurry, Jean Mair, Jenn Fanchurst, Dorothy Hudson, and Joan Turner. Mr. Lloyd Ralph, the bridegroom-elect, and Mr. Frank Leech were also supper guests.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Martin, Menzies Street, are among the Victorians who left on the last West Coast trip.

Mrs. A. E. McMicking has entertained with a few tables of bridge at her home on Linden Avenue for three afternoons this week.

Mrs. G. H. Kingham, Beach Drive, will leave tomorrow for Vancouver to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. G. Clothier.

Mrs. R. G. Thomson and Mrs. John Thomson were hostesses last evening at a shower held in honor of Miss Joan Teasdale, a popular bride-to-be. The shower was held at the home of Mrs. R. G. Thomson, 2755 Cadboro Bay Road. Upon her arrival the guest of honor received a corsage bouquet of pink carnations. Coral carnations in a cut glass vase and coral tapers in cut glass holders decorated the lace-covered tea table, at which Mrs. C. T. Teasdale and Mrs. W. W. Webster presided. The gifts were concealed in a pretty container of coral and white. The guests were Mesdames C. T. Teasdale, W. W. Webster, G. Ford, W. Flett, R. D. Travis, F. H. Rough, J. K. Ellis, and the Misses Gwen Williams, Marjorie Dodsworth, Marjorie Tindall, Joyce Finch, Sheila Sangster, Dorothy Hill, Beth Taylor and Winnifred Elliott. The hostess was assisted in serving by Misses Marjorie Dodsworth and Gwen Williams.

Miss Laura Severs and Mrs. Lawrence Butler were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower Wednesday evening at the home of the former in honor of Miss Gertrude Heater, who is to be married next week. Miss Heater sat beneath a decorated arch and opened the many gifts which were concealed beneath a doll decorated in pink and white. Games were played during the evening, prizes being won by Johnna Blatchford, Muriel Spragge and Laura Sheret. Refreshments were served later and a birthday cake was cut by the guest of honor, who was also celebrating her birthday. Those invited were: Mesdames G. Severs, A. McDonald, A. Spragge, W. Wain, H. Jones, D. Clark, M. Ludlow, T. Parkes, W. George L. Butler and the Misses Gertrude Heater, Margaret Smith, Laura Sheret, Gloria Parkes, Alice and Mona Quayle, Johnna Blatchford, Viola Wain, Thelma Reynolds, Mary and Beverly Norton, Muriel Spragge, Phyllis Battle and Laura Severs.

Miss Nellie Dawes, a popular bride-to-be, was the guest of honor recently at a linen shower held at 79 Cadillac Avenue at which Mrs. W. Ralph and Mrs. Geo. Palmer were joint hostesses. Miss Dawes was presented with a corsage of roses upon entering the living-room. She was seated under a decorated archway and received the gifts which were

Mrs. W. Ellis Again Heads Chapter

Mrs. Wm. Ellis was elected regent, and Mrs. H. A. Stuart first vice-regent, of the Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter I.O.D.E. at the monthly meeting held at the headquarters on Tuesday evening, the election being necessitated by vacancies that have occurred. Mrs. M. J. Cotte, acting regent, was in the chair, and a new member, Mrs. C. H. Blaxill, was accepted.

Routine business was dealt with, and reports from the various conveners were heard. The Chapter has been very active in making field comforts for the three branches of the service, and many pairs of socks, sweaters and scarfs have been forwarded to Municipal, together with handkerchiefs.

Knitting meetings will be continued throughout the winter, the next being at the home of Mrs. Colgate, on Thursday, September 19, at 2 o'clock.

GRANTED A DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Lana Turner was granted a divorce from band leader Artie Shaw yesterday after she testified he "literally flew into rages and left the house several times" without telling her when he would be back. Shaw and Miss Turner eloped to Las Vegas, Nev., last February 13.

placed beneath a daintily trimmed yellow parasol with cellophane streamers. The dining table was centred by a silver and white bride's cake with a miniature bride and groom. Tea was poured by Mrs. J. A. Ralph. Golden-rod, asters and gladioli and other decoration were carried out in yellow and mauve. Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. J. L. Ward and Mrs. C. Allison. Including the girls of the Hope Chest Club, of which Miss Dawes is a member, those present were Mesdames J. A. Ralph, M. Griffiths, J. L. Hunter, F. G. Palmer, C. Kerr, H. Beve, F. J. Smith, J. L. Ward, M. Campbell, Geo. Harris, T. Ralph, P. Dawes, O. Newberry, Geo. Palmer, W. Ralph, and the Misses Dorothy Paxton, Nellie Dawes, Betty Waldron, Joan Palmer, Kay Carter, Grace and Elsie Ralph.

Mrs. S. Mackey and Miss Gladys Cameron were joint hostesses, at the home of Mrs. Mackey, Monterey Avenue, at a surprise shower for Miss Irene Barnes, whose marriage to Mr. Andrew Hogg will take place shortly. Upon her arrival, the bride-to-be was presented with a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums. She was the recipient also of a beautiful peach-colored chenille bedspread, presented in a very novel way. During the evening an entertaining game of Treasure Trail was enjoyed by the guests and a solo was rendered by Miss Ora Jealous. Refreshments were served from a table prettily decorated with yellow streamers, yellow chrysanthemums, and blue tapers, to carry out the color scheme of yellow and blue. The table was centred with an ice cream cake, decorated with the words "Best Wishes to the Bride." The guests were: Miss Irene Barnes, Mrs. W. Barnes, Mrs. E. Willis, Mrs. W. Jones (Vancouver), Mrs. S. Mackey, and the Misses Gladys Cameron, Marjorie Barnes, Marjorie Kennedy, Vera Carter, and Ora Jealous.

HELEN LEAVES ITALY

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Princess Helen of Greece started back to Rumania today to be queen mother for a second time after 10 years of exile by her divorced husband Carol.

Her sister, Irene, now Duchess of Spoleto, with whom she has been living in Florence, accompanied Helen, as did Madame Helen Catargi, one of her former ladies-in-waiting.

At Venice, during an hour stop-over, the princess intended to confer with her brother-in-law, Prince Nicolas, himself one of Carol's exiles. Nicolas, the exiled king's brother, intended to wait until tomorrow to leave for Bucharest, letting Helen receive special honors alone.

Irene intended to accompany Helen only as far as Venice. Helen, who had been living in a villa in Florence, told friends she intended to keep it for possible visits.

Fabric Pre-testing Consumer Aid

"My dears!" Mrs. Brown looked up dramatically across the bridge table. "Have you heard the news?"

"No—tell us!" came in a chorus.

"Well," said Mrs. B., "they're using laboratories to test fabrics now. No more guessing about the quality of the fabrics in the dresses we buy. It's all strictly scientific. . . . Tests for shrinkage, fading, everything you can think of. . . . I certainly call that worth knowing!"

Mrs. Brown is right. Modern science has eliminated guesswork as to fabric quality, particularly as to rayon quality. A program of pre-testing which is especially interesting from the wearer's point of view is now being carried out by the Better Fabrics Testing Bureau, official laboratory of the National Retail Drygoods Association.

SCIENCE GIVES WEARER PROTECTION

The bureau's laboratory is a mystifying place, full of costly and up-to-date equipment for examining and checking rayons to make certain that they will do everything good rayons should do. A perfect example of how the wearer is protected these days is shown by Crown Tested Rayons. These rayons are submitted to rigorous tests by expert technicians at the Better Fabrics Testing Bureau, so that when you see the Crown Tested Rayon label on dresses, you can be absolutely confident that they will give you really satisfactory fabric wear. For they have been tested. They clean well. No shrinking. No fading. No pulling at the seams.

Think of what this means to you! Remember the times you bought a dress a "size larger" to be sure it would fit after washing? And how many dresses have been ruined because the colors faded? Or the seams pulled out after a few washings? No more of this! Pre-testing eliminates all risks in buying fabrics.

More and more women are coming to look for labels on merchandise . . . to realize that they protect the consumer. Fabrics that are pre-tested are the best you can buy. Insist upon this service!

You may be certain of this—fabric testing is here to stay. The above is only one instance of the splendid work science is doing today in coming to the aid of the consumer movement. Mrs. Brown is right!

The Alpine Group of the Metropolitan United Women's Association was entertained by Mrs. C. H. Williams at her home on Cadboro Bay Road, Thursday afternoon. ## New Beauty Seen in Modern Furniture and Serving Ware

With his solid maple "American Modern" furniture, brought out in 1935, Russel Wright gave the furniture field an entirely new direction. It has proved itself an authentic contribution to the history of furniture design. Its influence has been far reaching. Mr. Wright is largely responsible, too, for the trend toward light-colored woods in this country, for with his "American Modern" he introduced bleached maple for commercial furniture—christening it "blonde," now a familiar word in our furniture vocabulary. By using solid lumber, uncovered by veneer, not only were production costs cut down, but many design limitations were eliminated, facilitating, for instance, the rounded or "cushion" edge, so much in use at present. By rediscovering solid maple, by a return to full, hardy craftsman-like forms, "American Modern" was given a far greater adaptability to a larger number of American homes than that enjoyed by the more sophisticated types. It is felt that "American Modern" does not break but continues and modernizes a century-old tradition of American furniture design. In a sense it is our present interpretation of the spirit behind American colonial design. A spirit which prompted frank construction and simplicity—qualities expressed by "American Modern" in contemporary language of comfort, efficiency and further simplification. Wood for informal serving accessories was also one of Mr. Wright's ideas. As with his aluminumware, he "lifted" wood from the kitchen to bring it to our dining-room tables in the form of salad bowls, service plates, sandwich bars, etc. Last spring he introduced "Oceana" carved woodenware in informal serving accessories. Marine motifs were discovered as a rich source of design inspiration for "Oceana"—shells and strange sea plants, ideally lending themselves to abstract sculptural treatment. Any attempt, however, toward faithful reproduction or even conventionalization of nature forms was avoided, in an effort to create forms valid in their own right. Thus, design is reaching out into unexplored fields, leaving far behind the stereotyped, which has constituted much of the so-called "modern" picture.

Letters to the Editor

OIL ROYALTIES

To the Editor:—Clare McAllister objects to a return of 20 per cent on oil royalties on the grounds of war profiteering. If the writer would take the trouble to go into facts before rushing into print she would find that the 20 per cent return is not a 20 per cent dividend or profit, but a very speculative 5 or 6 per cent dividend, plus the yearly return of 15 per cent of capital invested. The profitable life of an oil well is probably about seven years, and at the end of that time the only thing a royalty holder has to show for his money is a $150,000 hole in the ground. Possibly the lady has never heard of "depletion" or exhaustion of a mine or oil well, although allowance for this is made on income tax returns. I expect she looks upon the yearly payments from a government annuity as so much percent return on an investment and does not classify all the produce consumed by a farmer's family off their own farm as income.

C. E. ATTER,
726 Mt. Joy Avenue.

FOR THIS ISLAND

To the Editor:—In view of the great and immediate changes which the present war must cause, and the potential shifting of Empire gravitation, may I suggest that we petition the Canadian government to offer the whole of Vancouver Island to the Empire, as the seat and centre of an Empire Summer Parliament?

More than ever it is becoming evident that air development forces will in future make it essential that the safety of Empire should not depend too much on the fate of London. I would like to suggest that a large and influential committee of residents on this island be formed to take up this question immediately and start negotiations with the Canadian government, so that a definite offer be made to the King and the British government so that the first summer Empire Parliament could assemble here next year.

JAMES MOYES,
Cobble Hill.

OBSERVATIONS

To the Editor:—A few days ago I met a young girl with tinted nails and carrying a cigarette at a careless angle.

She had also spent a little money on a compact and lipstick, but she still looked anemic and as though she required exercise and sunshine.

As our Canadian girls look much better in their natural state why not do as the English ladies are doing and cut out these frivolities during wartime.

I met another lady with a hat on about the size of a saucer and tipped a little to one side of where the brain should be, almost covering one eye.

It was the kind you see in pictures on cannibals. She may get a good laugh at her photo some day in the undersized hat.

The army medical corps want empty bottles to put medicine in for soldiers. I presume they meant clean bottles, and I hope the citizens understood it that way.

While in business in the east we allowed one cent each to kiddies for regular size clean bottles. Sometimes we would accept discolored bottles for horse liniment, as there were plenty of horses and few motor cars. A lady came in the store one day with two prescriptions, one for her husband and the other for a horse. She said "now be careful and don't get the prescriptions mixed as that is a very valuable horse and I would not like anything to happen to him during seeping time."

A druggist one time did put a cough mixture label on a bottle of liniment for a customer. Not being able to locate his customer the druggist took a few holidays and examined the obituaries daily in the papers. After he returned to business the customer came in one day and asked to have the bottle refilled, saying that it was the best cough mixture he ever used.

J. O. STINSON,
2002 Lorne Terrace Oak Bay.

BUREAUCRACY

To the Editor:—In European mainland countries, speaking generally, one man in five was a civil servant of one kind or another.

All kind of laws were passed creating new jobs. Most of these jobs could easily have been looked after by already existing agencies if the functions had been made as simple as possible.

These laws created fees to pay for these so-called services, in reality to pay the civil servants.

The effect of the horde of civil servants on the governments was pernicious.

The fall of France can directly be blamed on them, as they had the ear of the government to the exclusion of the real public.

A true democracy must have the ear of the government to the exclusion of vested interests and bureaucrats.

In Germany, where the bureaucrats have for generations been supreme, the above facts made them into a war party, not to be withstood by anyone or anything, as by war alone were they able to hold their jobs.

Let us learn from these lessons and simplify our legislation, disregarding the voices of vested interests, who, through the bureaucracy get legislation passed in such terms that favor them and the bureaucrats to the detriment of the public at large.

The government here should learn from the experience it had with the national registration that the people here are willing to co-operate a great deal more than they suspected heretofore.

WILLIAM A. LAMING,
617 Michigan Street.

GIVE US BREAD

To the Editor:—If Canadians will read, learn and inwardly digest the Rowell report, a resume of the royal commission which occupied three years studying the interrelations of the provinces and Dominion, they will learn something to their advantage.

If that were now an accomplished fact, accepted by Canadians, we should not be witnessing the appalling conditions facing the agricultural provinces today. Surely the sad, lean years through which they have passed, now changing to bountiful harvests, should bring rejoicing to all of this Dominion; but a cruel hand is placed on last year's crop (to be sold to finance the present crop) and all hope of reward is lost.

I appeal to a great Canadian organization of both men and women, the Canadian Club, to give real support to those provinces who are fighting life's battle for us all.

Farming is the oldest human pursuit; agriculturists have always replenished the soil and given it needed rest; the changing moods, winds and clouds are their books and among them one fine daily thanksgiving to God for His blessings.

Something can be done to save this awful situation, but it must be at once—by allowing the people who know how to manage their own affairs in their own intelligent way.

Canadians may prove themselves unworthy of this great country.

LEONE HAYWARD,
661 Newport Avenue.

ENGLISH AS SHE IS WRITES

To the Editor:—Who writes about private schools, published in your paper each eve of a new school-term? If, in Victoria, private schools cannot produce between them one staff-member able to write 200 words in English at least intelligible and grammatically correct, one's confidence in their local value wavers. Saturday's paper, page 8, provides a typical example... not one sentence even passable! Take this priceless paragraph: "The private school gives students individual attention so necessary in the development of character and personality. They produce in their pupils a sense of style and intellectual attitude of economy." Hopeless! "That" (or the) individual attention so necessary. But that is a minor error. To what noun does "they" refer? And apart from this unwarrantable ellipsis, and even supposing generously that "they" refers to teachers hitherto unmentioned, in what department of life is this "sense of style" "produced"? Calligraphy? English composition? Manners? Dress? Or, if that question is unanswerable (the compiler of this pitiful blurb knowing neither what he means nor what English means), what, what, what is the "intellectual attitude of economy"? How does economy, in any sense of the word, acquire or manifest an attitude? Particularly an intellectual attitude? Which cannot be manifested except by intelligent beings? Or, if economy could do either, how would economy's intellectual attitude be "produced" in pupils? Any child of 12, from an Old Country elementary school, could write, in better English, and more intelligibly (and intelligently!) about private schools, or anything else! Was this strange and garbled matter compiled by an ex-private-school pupil? or by one from the local grade schools? If the former, there would hardly be a more damning indictment of the system, or a more unfortunate advertisement.

Seek to Overcome Zoning Ruling

Victoria, which sought to protect the highly-assessed St. Charles Street residential area through special zoning regulations which would curtail conversion of big homes into apartments, faced a new quandary today.

The zoning legislation, passed at the request of St. Charles Street residents recently, restricted conversions to those proposed "with the consent in writing of 65 per centum of the owners of property situated on the street on which the house to be converted stands and within 750 feet on either side of the boundary lines of the property upon which said house stands."

Yesterday the Gainsboro Apartments Limited, owners of the old Bullen house at 906 St. Charles Street, resubmitted plans and specifications with consents to the city zoning board of appeal for approval of its conversion into an eight-suite apartment with janitor's quarters.

Previously the Gainsboro interests had failed to secure approval for the scheme and had been unsuccessful in an attempt to force the issue through the Supreme Court in their favor.

Yesterday their plans and specifications were accompanied by the required number of consents. A total of 49 signatures were appended to the document, a number larger than the required 65 per cent.

But all 49 were listed as joint owners of one lot adjoining 906 St. Charles.

The zoning board of appeal tabled the issue until next Thursday and referred the list of owners to the assessor-collector's department for a check.

Conditional approval was given the Royal Trust Company's application by the board to convert premises at 718 Esquimalt Road into a two-family dwelling. Similar action was taken on the request of A. Mitchell to construct an automobile garage at 1256 Yates Street.

The board ordered submission of amended plans from W. H. Muncy for his proposal to convert the dwelling at 3018 Blackwood Street into a two-family home.

OPPOSED STAGING OF BOXING SHOWS

Oak Bay police board notified the municipal council last evening it was not prepared to recommend issuance of a license for boxing programs at the Willows during the winter months, which Ted Moore of Vancouver proposed to stage.

Moore is promoting a show at the Sports Centre tomorrow evening for the Red Cross in conjunction with the 79th annual Fall Fair now in progress. He planned to present boxing shows every two weeks during the winter.

The municipal solicitor told the council the corporation had no power to prevent an Oriental from building or residing in the municipality, in answer to a petition from ratepayers protesting against an Oriental erecting a dwelling in the district.

U.S. COULD USE CANADA AIR BASES

OTTAWA (CP)—The 90-odd airmen being built in Canada under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan might provide bases for United States air forces should it be necessary for them to operate from Canadian soil in case of an overseas attack on north American territory.

At Washington this week Mayor Fiorella LeGuardia of New York, U.S. chairman of the Canadian-American joint defence board, said the board was discussing plans for the pooling of the defence forces of the two countries and the joint use of military, naval and air bases rather than establishment by one country of bases on the territory of the other.

Establishments of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan could accommodate service aircraft just as readily as they could training aircraft.

The trend of discussion as outlined by the New York mayor, of course, would also involve the employment of Canadian forces in the United States in case of attack there and the use by Canadians of American facilities and bases.

Epic Picture Story of Shelling of British Convoy

A six-picture story that tells how a convoy of British ships was subjected to an 80-minute shelling by hidden German gun emplacements along the French coast. The convoy was in the Straits of Dover when the Germans opened fire. And, as these pictures show, very few, if any, of the shells took effect. At the left, top, the convoy makes its peaceful way through the straits before the shelling began. Second from top, left, one shell lands between two vessels, while a second shell lands abeam of the leading ship. Below is a long view, probably made from the Dover Cliffs, showing the line of convoy ships, snapped at the moment two shells exploded far from the quarry. At top, right, a semi-close-up as two shells explode harmlessly in the water between four vessels. Second from top, right, a close-up as a shell lands and explodes, beneath the surface, uncomfortably close to the two ships shown. At bottom, the convoying warships race around the cargo vessels, laying down a smoke screen that effectually hid the convoy from sight and ended the steel barrage. Observers reported that no ship appeared damaged.

These prams aren't for sale. Far from it. Their small occupants, at the moment photo above was snapped, were safely waiting in an air raid shelter in London while Nazi bombers thrust at the British capital. Shelter marshal, left, keeps an eye on the line of baby taxis while mothers wait below for the "all clear" signal.

THE KING MEETS NEWFOUNDLANDERS—The men of a Newfoundland heavy battery are inspected by His Majesty during a tour of harbor and coastal defences.

It was ironic that the statue of John Milton, blind poet who wrote "Paradise Lost," should become one of the first casualties of Nazi bombings of London. Statue was only knocked off pedestal, however, outside St. Giles Church, where he is buried. Air raid wardens are pictured "rescuing" the statue. Milton's grave was not disturbed.

Out of circulation now is Major General Romolo La Strucci, one of several Italian army officers captured by British forces during a raid into Libya. He is pictured in prison camp.

Nazi Planes in England

Three pictures showing three German bombing planes which were brought down on the beach somewhere in southeast England by anti-aircraft fire and British defence planes during an air raid. The high tide washes around the wrecked ships which had come to destroy and were themselves destroyed.

Didn't Jump

Although Earl McBride (top window), motorcar salesman from Dormont, Pa., isn't bothered by moving problems, he gave apartment-changing New Yorkers a provocative idea when he recently threw a roomful of furniture—table, chair, lamp and bedding—out of his eighth floor Manhattan hotel room window. Police, fearing McBride would leap too, spread life net beneath window, sent him to hospital after detective's falsetto voice fooled McBride into opening door, thinking it was his wife.

Rescuers Amid Death, Destruction in London

After the bombing, the search for the dead—an all-too-familiar scene in London after the fourth consecutive night of extensive air raids in which hundreds have been killed, thousands injured. In this picture radioed from London rescue workers are seen digging into wreckage of a bombed home for victims. (Acme telephoto).

Fires Follow Apartment House Bombing

Only the skeleton, flaming walls of this London apartment house remain after Nazi bombers scored a hit with an incendiary bomb. Firemen battle the blaze in this picture, passed by British censor and radioed from London. (Acme telephoto).

Calling Up the Reserves

Scores of United States' big field guns, built too late to see service in the World War, may yet have their chance to speak up in defence of democracy. Hidden away in obscure depots since 1917-18, they are now being modernized as part of the national defence program. Above are pictured some of them at the Erie Ordnance Depot, near Port Clinton, Ohio. The reclaimed artillery, 155-mm. cannon and 240-mm. howitzers, are now highly mobile, being mounted on new rubber-tired carriages designed to be drawn by speedy artillery trucks and tractors.

HERE AND THERE at the Willows track... Wednesday afternoon's crowd was a big surprise to everybody at the plant... Peter Geoghegan running around picking up every spare program... He had prepared for a heavy overflow but ran out early... Noticed many new faces over the regular crowd... Could easily tell it was citizen's day by the terrific play at the show windows in the betting ring.

"Who hurled the pop bottle?" was the cry around the track just after the close of the seventh race when one of George Irvine's specials came hurtling down off the top of the grandstand... Just missed a woman's head by inches... Noticed a young lady come down from the roof with a slightly red face... They tell me President Randall was forced to string wire netting in front of the press box in Vancouver... But it wasn't to catch pop bottles.

Preceding steward Dr. W. J. McKeon holding forth from his new porch on top of the grandstand... Says he has already purchased his umbrella for when it rains... ADMISSION 55¢
Ladies and Gentlemen
COLWOOD PARK ASSOCIATION LTD.

Hurrah Kate ridden by Mrs. D. B. Carley took the spotlight again at last evening's big Red Cross horse show at the Willows, held in conjunction with the annual fall fair now in progress.

The beautiful brown mare owned by Mrs. H. Jutson Fisher carried off top honors in the opening night of the two-night show Wednesday.

Another large crowd was in attendance to witness excellent competition in the eight-event program.

Hurrah Kate opened her sparkling performance by winning the third event on the program, the ladies' hunter class. She then took the first-place ribbon in the performance class and was in the winning team in the hunt teams' class. She climaxed the evening by taking first place in the difficult seven-jump hunter course contest.

The manner in which Mrs. Carley handled Hurrah Kate was pretty to watch and time after time she was given loud applause by the crowd.

The show was opened by D. D. McTavish, president of the B.C. Agriculture Association, sponsors of the fair. McTavish was introduced by the ringmaster, Gordon Harris.

FEATURE EVENT

The feature event on the program was the final hunter course contest.

The jumpers had a difficult course to take, including a swing gate, a hump-back jump, a triple bar, a picket fence, two natural rail jumps, and a three-bar jump with trees.

Second to Hurrah Kate in the competition was Kelpie, a bay gelding owned and ridden by Mrs. G. B. Barnes. Rob Roy, a chestnut gelding owned and ridden by J. A. McPherson, took third place, and Mrs. D. B. Carley's brown gelding, Chenango, ridden by Mrs. D. Sutherland, Vancouver, was fourth.

Competition was particularly keen in the children's riding class, the judge said as he awarded first place to Miss N. Japdine on Patches. Second was John Nelson on Gamelin and third was Miss O. Parris on Buckskin Bob. Little seven-year-old Ann Cavenagh on Little Dickens was given a special award for the remarkable way she handled the little horse which was nervous.

The children's jumping class was won by Miss O. Parris on Buckskin Bob, which is owned by Mrs. J. Watney. Ann Cavenagh was second on Kobay, owned by the Victoria Riding Academy, and Miss B. Denniston on Gamelin, also owned by the Academy, was third. Following the event Little Ann was brought before the audience on the 32-year-old Kobay and the two were given thunderous applause.

Second to Hurrah Kate in the ladies' hunter class was Omar, a brown gelding, ridden by Miss Margaret Hogg. Omar is owned by the Victoria Riding Academy. Rob Roy, ridden by Mrs. Douglas Sutherland, was third.

In the performance class, lovable old Sir Wilfred, a chestnut gelding, ridden by Miss D. Preece, (Turn to Page 20, Col. 6)

N.H.L.-Amateurs Make Agreement

NEW YORK (CP)—The National Hockey League and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, whose views have crossed more than once over the processes of amateurs becoming professionals, reached a tentative agreement yesterday under which the N.H.L. will pay up to $500 for signing a simon-pure.

At a long meeting of the N.H.L. governors, attended for a while by Dr. W. G. Hardy of Edmonton, past president of the C.A.H.A. and president of the International Hockey Association, the N.H.L. agreed to pay $250 to the I.H.A. for signing an amateur and another $250 if the amateur plays with a big-league club.

The second payment will be made when the amateur actually gets into the N.H.L., not if he is sent to a major-league farm.

A schedule satisfactory to all seven clubs could not be found among the seven already submitted by president Frank Calder but he announced the season will open November 2 with New York Rangers at Toronto. This is the earliest opening in the N.H.L.'s history.

The governors talked at length about immigration regulations to enable players on the Canadian teams, Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens, to pass over the border without trouble. Nothing was disclosed as to what steps are being taken to meet the new, stricter United States regulations but Lester Patrick of the Rangers said "there's no suggestion that they won't be able to get over to play."

COMPLETE MILITARY TRAINING

Nor will there be any difficulties about the players being called up under Canada's Mobilization Act, most players having volunteered in the nonpermanent militia, Patrick added. As far as he knew they will have completed their Canadian military training by the time the hockey season opens.

After the Rangers and Leafs, finalists for the Stanley Cup last season, open activities, play will get under way at Montreal and Detroit the following night, November 3. Teams to oppose Canadians and the Red Wings have not been named yet. The only other definite date is November 14 for the opening in New York, with Americans the home team. Refereeing contracts will be offered to six men: Bill Stewart, Mickey Ion, Frank (King) Clancy, Teddy Graham, Norman Lampert and Charles (Rabbit) McVeigh. The linesmen will be: Dannie McFayden, Chicago; Joe Primeau, Toronto; McVeigh for Detroit if he does not want to referee; Archie Wilcox, Montreal; Ag Smith, Boston, and Fred Stevenson and Bill Chadwick, New York.

Belloise Will Get Title Shot

NEW YORK (AP)—Steve Belloise, the kid who began his fighting at a family picnic and who does fancy needlework for fun, gets a crack at the world middleweight championship on November 1.

By outpointing the veteran ex-fighter, Celerino Garcia, in 10 rounds before a crowd of 10,869 in Madison Square Garden last night, the Bronx youngster not only scored his 25th straight victory, but also was signed immediately by promoter Mike Jacobs to tangle with Ken Overlin, the Virginia boxing "cutie" Overlin, who holds that portion of the title recognized in California and New York, was sitting at the ringside. Neither Belloise nor the Filipino exploded any of the fill-pino bombs for which they are famous, and most of the action was in close, with referee George Walsh having a busy evening breaking clinches. As a fight, there wasn't much to it, with the veteran Garcia apparently unable to do anything with Steve's snaky, unorthodox left hand.

THE RAZOR THAT SHARPENS ITSELF

BAER WILL FIGHT HIM—Max Baer is guaranteed $5,000 for fighting Patrick Edward Comiskey at Roosevelt Stadium, Jersey City, the week of Sept. 23. Comiskey, shown being rubbed down by his trainer, Johnny Lane, is a 39-year-old heavyweight with a remarkable knockout record.

Horse Racing

Mudders Have Day

It wasn't quite clear whether the sudden lightning storm affected the horses, or the punters, but the result was the same at Willows race track yesterday as a succession of long shots paraded home over the soggy racing strip.

Biggest surprise of the day came in the seventh when Willie Chipping sent Ackfol, a mud-running daughter of Xenofol, to the post a 25 to 1 shot and she cantered home unextended. The mutual return was $32.40 straight and she combined with the public-favored Sunny Monday for a quinella price of $126.45.

In the fifth the quinella also posted boxcar figures when Shasta Chub and Lady Giovanna combined for a return of $164.25. But this was not the full extent of the rout of the favorites. Saucy Maid topped the day's opener and rewarded her backers 10 for 1, and Thirsk took the sixth at better than 7 to 1.

The track was deep in mud and with only one exception the horse that got to the first turn on top was able to stick it out and throw mud in the face of the opposition.

Baseball

Yanks Fold Badly

After splitting a doubleheader at Cleveland Wednesday, New York Yankees folded before the Detroit Tigers yesterday 6 to 3, while the Cleveland Indians fattened on Boston Red Sox 8 to 1.

It was the 14th triumph of the year for Schoolboy Rowe, who gave 11 hits, two more than his mates made, but he was careful in the clutches and fanned six.

The Indians' massacre of the Red Sox came on spectacular three-hit hurling by the veteran Mel Harder and a 10-hit bombardment that was concentrated in the fourth inning, when seven runs were scored.

This left Cleveland half a game behind Detroit and 1½ ahead of New York. It let the surprising Chicago White Sox catch up with Boston for a fourth-place tie, six games back of the lead. The White Sox fanned Philadelphia Athletics in two games 1 to 0 and 4 to 3. Washington Senators squeaked St. Louis Browns 7 to 2.

Cincinnati eliminated New York Giants mathematically from the National League pennant picture by pounding out a 9 to 4 decision for Gene Thompson's 15th victory of the year.

Hugh Casey won both halves of a doubleheader for Brooklyn against Pittsburgh 7 to 0 and 7 to 4. He allowed three hits in the first game and then went to the relief of Luke Hamlin with the score tied in the seventh inning of the nightcap and got credit for the victory.

Boston Bees shelled St. Louis Cardinals 17 to 7 and 6 to 1, getting 36 hits in the doubleheader. Chicago Cubs piled up 14 hits, including Bill Nicholson's 24th home run, and Larry French pitched five-hit ball to plug the Phils 5 to 1.

A mound duel between two 23-game winners left Dick "Kewpie" Barrett, diminutive Seattle right-hander, the toast of the Coast Baseball League today.

Barrett, no small factor in Seattle's climb to its second successive pennant, was credited with an 11 to 6 win over San Diego at the southern city last night, and it meant an important victory for him over Dick New-some of the Padres.

Tie for Lead At Half Way With 137s

CAPILANO GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB, WEST VANCOUVER (CP)—Two well-known professionals—Freddie Wood of Vancouver and Neil Christian of Yakima, Wash.—today entered the last half of the 72-hole medal competition for the western Canada $1,000 open golf championship all square. They shot 137s, seven below par, in yesterday's 36-hole matches.

Wood, British Columbia and Alberta open champion, and Christian are three up on Ken Black of Vancouver, Canadian amateur champ. Wood carded 68-69-137, Christian, 65-72-137 and Black, 68-72-140.

In fourth spot is Chuck Congdon, Tacoma star, with 69-75-144. Stan Leonard, brilliant Calgary professional and winner of the Canadian professional crown at Toronto last month, was tied in fifth spot with Percy Clogg of Vancouver, each with 145.

TIES COURSE RECORD

Christian electrified a large gallery on his morning round when he tied the course record with a bright seven under par 65. But he lost his chance to set a new record and take a clean lead over the field in the afternoon. Playing in a heavy rainstorm he carded a five on the par three fourth when his tee shot hit a stump and landed in a tough lie. His approach was good but he three-putted.

Wood, pre-tournament favorite, finished his afternoon round three under par despite a six on the first hole.

Victorians were headed by Freddie Painter who put together cards of 77-79 for 156, a stroke ahead of Jimmy McLarnin, former world welterweight boxing champion from Vancouver.

W. Devereux, another Victoria entry, had 77-81-158 while Joe Pryke, also of Victoria, did not turn in a card for the afternoon after scoring a 79 in the morning.

Other top finishers included: Bill Christie, Seattle, 70-76-146; Don Sutherland, Vancouver, 72-75-147; Harry Givan, Seattle, 73-75-148; Hal West, Chehalis, 73-75-148; Jock McKinnon, Vancouver, 74-74-148; Don Thompson, Portland, 79-70-149; Benny Colk, Vancouver, 72-79-151; Jimmy Robertson, Vancouver, 75-76-151; Frank Wiley, Vancouver, 75-76-151; Bob Connolly, Seattle, 72-79-151; Emery Zimmerman, Portland, 74-77-151; Hugh Morrison, Vancouver, 78-74-152; Roy Hyndman, Vancouver, 75-77-152; and Gordon Richards, Seattle, 72-80-152.

Next meeting of the association will be held on October 1, when plans for the opening of the season will be made.

CAGE LEAGUE NOW OPEN FOR ENTRIES

Victoria and District Basketball Association is now open for entries in all divisions from senior A to midgets.

At an organization meeting held last night the tentative closing date for entries was set at October 5. The intermediate B and junior boys' divisions, formerly handled by the Sunday School League, will come under the Victoria and district group this season.

At Sacramento, the home town solons dropped their second straight to Hollywood, 5 to 4. San Francisco Seals beat last-place Portland at San Francisco, 4 to 1, behind Frank Dasso's five-hit pitching job.

Stockmen Gather at Luncheon

Victoria Medallions To Oldest Exhibitors

"Canada will be Britain's bread basket for the duration of the war, at least, and afterwards we are certain to be called upon to supply food for millions of starving people in Europe," said Alderman T. W. C. Hawkins, speaking at the annual stockmen's luncheon at the Victoria exhibition in the main restaurant at the Willows today.

A pleasant ceremony took place when Alderman Hawkins honored Robert Thorburn of Vancouver and James Turner of Victoria, the two oldest exhibitors at the fair. He presented to them sterling silver medallions, inscribed with the coat of arms of the City of Victoria.

In this regard Alderman Hawkins also mentioned other exhibitors — "stalwarts," he called them, for they have been coming here for years. Among them, in addition to Mr. Thorburn and Mr. Turner were the Richard Brothers of Red Deer, Alta.; the Raper Brothers of Victoria; Ralph Rendle of Victoria; Colony Farm, the C.P.R. Farm, Strathmore, Alberta; Ram Ricka, the young Hindu cattle expert; Jake Grauer, Hugh Savage,

Friday 13th Losing Sting

Thirteen motorists each paid $2.50 fines in police court today and Chief Justice Macdonald remarked on the date to counsel opening a new case before the Court of Appeal, but by and large the public appeared to have ignored the import of Friday the 13th as an ill-starred day.

It might have influenced pedestrians at the Willows this afternoon, but the majority of people contacted in a cursory survey this morning had taken no note of the day.

"That's right. It is Friday the 13th. I'd better keep my fingers crossed," was a reply typical of those questioned on the superstition.

"What's the difference. In these times it's always Friday the 13th," remarked another. Some clung tenaciously to their three-on-a-match beliefs and a painter improving a Johnson Street building had cans of paint blocking passage under his rear ladders but fatal Friday seemed to get the go-by.

UNLUCKY FOR NAZIS
Friday the 13th was around once previously since the war opened. It was Friday, October 13, 1939, and three German submarines were destroyed that day — certainly no lucky date for the enemy.

There will be another appearance of the proverbial unlucky combination of day and date this year — Friday, December 13. Next year it will turn up only once, in June. In 1942 there will be reappearances in February, March and November.

As a matter of fact, historical or statistical, there is nothing to indicate that Friday the 13th is more unlucky, generally speaking, than any other day on the calendar.

But no doubt a number of people refused to set out on a journey by land, sea or air, start a new job or have a needed operation today. The old superstition which may have had its roots to the beginning of the Christian era 1,900 years ago dies hard in some quarters.

Perhaps the most accepted origin of the Friday the 13th idea is in the fact there were 13 at the Last Supper, including Judas Iscariot, who next day, traditionally a Friday, betrayed Jesus Christ for crucifixion.

The astrologers of ancient Babylon declared 13 unlucky. Mythologists of Scandinavia blacklisted the number because Balder, their sun god, had to die when 13 were found in the circle of Valhalla.

Seventy guests were present at the smoker and concert held by members last Tuesday celebrating the fifth anniversary of Capital City Lodge 61, Knights of Pythias. Addresses were given by Grand Lodge representative J. Casey and Chancellor-Commander J. Imrie. Taking part in the concert were Doug Parks, solo; Sid Horsford, magician; Amy, of the 'Art a Mo' concert party, impersonations; Al Harmon, clog and sand dances; Andre de Giraldo, accordion solos; Frank Totten, tap dances; Tom Kelway, solo; and Taka, Hindu weight lifter and club swinger.

Always and England E. J. Springett's Topic

The First Baptist Church was packed last night when the Dominion Commissioner, Rev. E. J. Springett, spoke on "There'll Always be an England." Starting with God's call to Abraham and the formation of a people trained by Him for service and to do His will, the speaker traced that people through their fall and dispersion to their assembling again in the "isles" and to the modern name of Britain, Israel, Britain.

Because of the covenant made with those peoples before they sinned and were dispersed, Samuel II—1616, they cannot be invaded, he said. They will suffer disaster, but if they will humble themselves and truly turn to God, they will be saved and the dangers ahead minimized, but they must repent and learn who they are.

Because they are the children of the covenant, and God is a covenant-keeping God, "there will always be an England."

Mr. Springett will speak again this evening at 8 in the First Baptist Church on "The Climax of the Ages" instead of "Hitler's Delusion," as advertised.

Hunters Warned

Hunters, particularly on Vancouver Island, were warned today by Attorney-General Gordon Wismer to register their guns.

Game department reports indicate that scores of them have not yet registered their weapons. "Some do not realize the seriousness of the matter," he said. "Under the order-in-council they can be fined and imprisoned and lose their weapons."

The Attorney-General said Chinese and Japanese are turning in their weapons at several points in the province. Orientals will not be allowed permits.

"Eye-Opener" lectures—Looking at Things as They Are, will be a new feature at the Central Baptist Church commencing Tuesday evening at 8. The opening lecture, by Dr. J. B. Rowell, will be on "In Britain's Crisis Hour: 'Art Thou for Us or for Our Adversaries?'—The Vatican and Canada."

SHOULD YOU DRIVE A $2500 CAR?

Of course you would LIKE to—what average male wouldn't? Take a La Salle, for instance, proud product of the great General Motors. Perhaps you'd like to drive THAT car, and perhaps the lady of the house wouldn't like to be seen in a La Salle—or would she? Well, suppose we tell you that you can own a '38 La Salle that's gone less than 12,000 miles for only $1,465 and another of the same model and year with slightly more mileage for only $1,395. Then what about it? Well, there's this—it will be a long, long time before you'll ever again be able to own a La Salle at a cool thousand-dollar saving.

The wonderful new 1941 Chevrolet is coming along and we must clean up our Used Car stock to make room for those that will come in exchange for the '41 Chevrolet. And then there's an Imperial Chrysler Sedan (also a '38 model) at only $1,095.

MOORE-McCORMACK SHIPS MAY CALL

Three new steamships of Pacific Republic Lines (Moore-McCormack Lines), the Mormacstar, Mormacsea and Mormacsun, which have been assigned to the new service between North Pacific and east coast of South America ports, will make regular calls at Victoria and Vancouver, according to advices from Seattle.

The new vessels, which were built to the order of the U.S. Maritime Commission for Moore-McCormack Lines, will fly the American flag and will be registered at San Francisco.

They will operate all the way from Victoria and Vancouver, B.C., via Seattle and other Puget Sound ports, San Francisco, Los Angeles and through the Panama Canal to Buenos Aires.

The Mormacstar, first of the three ships to be commissioned, will enter regular service about October 31. The Mormacsea and Mormacsun will enter the service shortly afterwards. Later, it is stated, a fleet of 10 vessels will be operated in the service.

Pacific Republic Lines service to the east coast of South America, as has been stated by Canadian trade commissioners visiting the city recently, will be a factor in developing British Columbia trade with the South Americans and West Indies.

Beulah Going Strong

The motorship Beulah, which was renovated and again commissioned for sea after lying at Victoria for many months, is reported to have delivered her British Columbia cargo at an Australasian destination and to have loaded another cargo for delivery at Taku Bay, China. The vessel, commanded by Capt. J. Wilkie, sailed from this coast in July.

Armstrongs Get Boat Contract

Robert Armstrong of the Kingston Street firm of Armstrong Bros., announced today that he had received a contract from the Dominion government for the immediate construction of two service boats for use on this coast.

The order was placed by D. B. Carswell, director of shipbuilding, Ottawa.

The two service boats, Mr. Armstrong states, will each be 45 feet long and powered by three-cylinder 60-horsepower Vivian diesel engines.

The specifications call for rig planking in the hulls with hardwood stem and stern posts.

Work on the two vessels will be started at once and they will be completed within four months.

Marine Strike On Sound Ended

TACOMA (AP).—The A.F.L. International Longshoremen's Association voted yesterday to end its "protest strike," which has closed three Puget Sound ports, and members will return to work today.

The vote was unanimous, T.A. Thronson, Pacific Coast I.L.A. secretary, announced. The National Labor Relations Board, against whose ruling recognizing the rival C.I.O. International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union as bargaining agency in coast ports the union struck, will hold hearings here, at Port Angeles and Anacortes, on the I.L.A. bargaining claims.

The hearings were ordered by the Labor Board at Washington, Thronson said.

Picket lines at Seattle and other affected ports were to be withdrawn immediately.

'Just an Ordinary Boy Doing His Job'

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (CP).—Acting Leading Seaman Jack Mantle, who won the Victoria Cross by sticking to his gun aboard the merchant cruiser Foylebank during an enemy air attack, although mortally wounded, was, according to his father, "just an ordinary boy doing his job, but very keen on the navy like all very men."

Mantle was in charge of a starboard pom-pom when the vessel was attacked last July. Early in the action Mantle's left leg was shattered by a bomb hit, but he stood fast and continued firing with the handgear after the electric power failed. Later during the fight he suffered other wounds, and when the action ended he fell beside his gun.

"At one time we thought he might go to New Zealand to join his brother Peter in farming, but Jack decided to make his career in the navy," Mantle's father said when he learned of the posthumous award.

"Just before he was killed he was recommended to take a petty officer's course. He was keen to get on in the service."

Mantle's two brothers are on

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP).—Export business involving approximately 2,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat and flour, believed to be for deferred shipment to the United Kingdom, was reported on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. It failed to arouse buying interest in the wheat pit, however, and prices closed at fixed minimum levels of 73 cents a bushel for the October future and 74 cents a bushel for December.

Noon wheat prices at Buenos Aires were 1/2 cent higher while Chicago prices were about unchanged.

Cash wheat traders reported an excellent demand for all grades of wheat, specially lower grades which were quoted at slightly better spreads. Trade was restricted by light offerings.

Prices were firm in the coarse grain pit. Malsters were purchasing barley and eastern domestic interests showed interest in oats. Trade was thin in the other grains.

CHICAGO (AP).—Wheat prices rose about 1/2 cent at one time today in response to reports of better demand for North American grain from accessible Southern European nations, but all of the advance was lost later.

Trade was restricted by the uncertainty of most dealers regarding the war situation and the market, therefore, was inclined to make time. Corn prices were steady to firm. Grain dealers booked large supplies to be shipped here from the country, but sales for shipment out of Chicago also were substantial.

Fireboats Fight London Blazes

Huge Thames River warehouses, target for repeated attacks by Hitler's air might, blaze high in this radiophoto from London, while fireboats ply many streams of water to bring stubborn fires under control. These fires were set in the night raid of September 11. (Acme telephoto).

Traders on Sidelines

NEW YORK (AP).—Traders generally stood aside in today's stock market, permitting leaders to drift either way by fractions. War news was the sole criterion of operations, and the war news only disclosed that Britain is resisting all attacks.

On the stronger side were U.S. Steel and Youngstown, Douglas and United Aircraft, Allied Chemical and Dow Chemical, American Smelting and Refining, Standard Oil of N.J., and Texas Corp., N.Y., Central and Santa Fe.

Balancing on the offside were Bethlehem, Chrysler, Harvester, Union Carbide, Martin, Sperry, International Nickel, Phelps Dodge and Consolidated Edison. Lake Shore Mines, in the Canadian list, dipped a fraction. Canadian Pacific held unchanged, while Canada 4s, in the bond market, lost 1/2 a point.

Tasmanians Used Spears for Hunting

The last full-blooded Tasmanian died 64 years ago. She was named Truganini.

Truganini was far from "good-looking." In her old age she was ugly and had a short beard under her chin. Yet she had a kind heart, and one day saved the life of a white settler.

Truganini, the last full-blooded Tasmanian.

Tasmania is an island off the southeastern coast of Australia. It is almost as large as Ireland, but contains only 250,000 people. The present population is nearly all white, there being only a few persons of mixed race.

The island was named in honor of a Dutchman named Tasman. He was in command of a fleet of Dutch vessels which visited the coast three centuries ago. Later Capt. James Cook, famous British explorer, visited Tasmania.

When the first whites reached the island, they found several thousand native people living there. These folks were "blacks," or at least they had dark-colored skins. Their skin color was blackish brown or coffee brown. The Tasmanians did not know the art of farming. They seemed never to have planted seeds. The only "crops" they reaped were those which Nature supplied free of any cost except the trouble of picking them. They ate roots, and took fruit from trees which grew wild.

Often the natives went fishing. They used nets as well as hooks and lines. The hooks were made of bone. Long spears were used for hunting as well as war. The spears often had a length of from 12 to 15 feet.

Kangaroos, the largest animals on the island, were among those hunted. The men used to gather in a big circle and then would move inward, driving the kangaroos toward the center, to be killed with clubs or spears.

HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 14

This is not an important day in planetary direction. Changes which may appear promising should be avoided. Judgment is not trustworthy under this configuration. Outdoor recreation is urged for persons engaged in exacting work of any sort. Under this configuration fear of the future may intrude. Heads of households should maintain a poised and optimistic point of view. Duty to the family should be balanced against duty to the nation in a way inspiring to the wisest patriotism. Danger of selfishness is forecast as the autumn advances and more urgent demands for public service are made. High ideals must be kept constantly in mind.

Foresight should show that provision for lean years is imperative in prosperous times. While trade continues to be good there will be reflection of Europe's tragedies in changing economic conditions. Banks and bankers now will prepare for tests in financial preparedness for coming months. This is a favorable time to buy generously those necessities which will be in demand when prices have advanced.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of unexpected experiences. Sudden good fortune may be expected. Children born on this day will be ingenious and industrious. Inventors belong to this sign. Eccentricities of genius may be early revealed.

Swastika to Remain

SWASTIKA, Ont. (CP)—This northern Ontario town was named long before the swastika became the sign of Nazism and therefore its name will remain unchanged. It was unanimously decided at a meeting of citizens in the public school.

During the first Great War the name of Berlin, Ont., was changed to Kitchener. At the meeting Dr. J. F. Edis, veteran resident, was chosen chairman and explained that the town came to be called Swastika about 1910, after a nearby mine. Formerly the municipality was known as Bell Sliding.

Fires in dwellings cause an average loss of $200.

Marion Miley In Great Win

SEATTLE (CP)—Playing superbly through thunder, lightning and rain, par-thumping Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., won her way to the semifinals of the western women's amateur golf tournament with a 4 and 2 victory over youthful Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Calif.

In the less spectacular quarter-final matches, national champion Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Texas, defeated Nancy Hurst, Portland, Ore. 6 and 4; Mrs. J. K. Preibe, Seattle city champion, upset Mrs. Mary Moezel Wagner, Portland, 4 and 2, and Muriel Veatch, Longview, Wash., eliminated Beatrice Barrett, Minneapolis, 5 and 3.

The Miley-Hicks match was packed with the day's links drama. Miss Hicks was trying to even the score for a 20-hole set-back at the hands of Miss Miley in Florida last winter. The Seattle Golf Club's waterhole hazard conspired against her with the water from above.

WADES INTO WATER

The hole that finally sealed her doom was the 468-yard 16th, which Miss Hicks' second shot failed to clear. She doffed her shoes and socks, waded ankle-deep into the far edge of the water hole and swung in futile desperation. She ended up by dropping a ball on the far side after wallowing out to knee depth and finished with an eight.

Miss Miley met Mrs. Priebe today and Miss Jameson played Miss Veatch.
